The Summer Session Sun

Vol. 3 No. 3

Montana State University, Missoula

Wednesday, July 3, 1946

Cradle Song Lead Given Eileen Plum

Eileen Plum, Missoula, has been cast in the leading role, portraying Sister Joanna of the Cross, in the summer session play "Cradle Song," according to Barnard W. Hewitt, drama coach.

The romantic leads will be played by Anne Foley, Anaconda, as Teresa, and Richard Wright, Missoula, as Antonio.

Other principal roles will be played by John Metcalf, Marion, as the doctor; Mary Clute, Dixon, as the prioress, and Cecile Morrison, Reed Point, as the vicarress. Alfonse Olson, Bainville, as the poet, will set the mood for the transition between the first and second acts.

Also cast in the play are Marion Van Haur, Missoula, as Sister Sagrario; Marjorie Karlin, Missoula, as Sister Marcella; Gladys Tavlin, Ekalaka, as Mistress of Novices; Ruth Cafferty, Beach, N. Dak., as Sister Toneria; Helen McMann, Anaconda, as Sister Inez; Robert Hodgman, Missoula, as the country man; Patricia Freeman, Missoula, as Sister Maria Jesus.

Monitors and nuns will be played by Dorothy M. Brown, Columbus; Betty Ulrigg, Missoula, and Ellen Brunckhorst, Columbus.

The "Cradle Song" will be presented in the Student Union auditorium on July 19.

Meyer Added To Music Staff

Arthur T. Meyer, assistant professor of music at the University of Oklahoma, will be instructor in music here beginning next fall, the president's office has announced. He will have courses in cello, string instruments and ensembles, and music theory.

Meyer obtained his bachelors degree in 1932 and his masters in 1934 from the University of Iowa. Since then he has studied at the Chicago Music College.

Bang-Up Fourth

Doris Brown, Missoula, seems about to blow up because she can't get that firecracker lit. "They used to light easier down in Oklahoma," says Doris. "Somebody get me another book of matches."

Committee Discusses Adding Fort Missoula to MSU Campus

The possibility of securing Fort Missoula as an addition to the university was discussed yesterday at a joint meeting of the Planning Committee and the deans and chairmen of divisions.

Fort Missoula, at present an army disciplinary barracks, is scheduled for deactivation November 1.

James A. McCain, president of the university, stated that MSU would benefit greatly by the addition of the fort to the present campus. It would, he said, provide housing for veterans and excellent recreational facilities, including two gymnasiums and a bowling alley.

President McCain added that in this way office equipment, needed for the increased faculty next fall, could be obtained.

"With the addition of Fort Missoula, the university could allow a

Mountains And Parks Get Big Play

Swimming, boating, horseback riding, fishing and sight-seeing are indicated as the most popular recreations anticipated for the holiday period.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hadsell, Los Angeles, plan a motor trip to Yellowstone Park. "We're going to camp out and take pictures," said Mr. Hadsell, "even if it rains."

"Swimming and boating with my folks at Seeley lake," was the comment of Lynn Centers, Missoula. Her pal, Laurel Taylor, Missoula, has her heart set on horseback riding with her boy friend and "maybe we'll go to Flathead lake."

Marjorie Bain, Missoula, the red-head in the university telephone booth, will stop at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, on her way to spend three days in Spokane.

Some Go Calling

Two other Spokane visitors will be John E. Donaldson, Sumatra, and Alfred Graham, Alzada.

C. D. Fulton, Missoula, will "head up the Blackfoot" with his family and fish wherever it looks good. "Maybe we'll wind up at Placid lake," he said.

Mr. and Mrs. Arne G. Goedeckle, Missoula, will visit relatives in Butte.

The Veterans' administration will remain open, but Mrs. Emma Lommason is taking time off for a visit, possibly to Great Falls.

T. E. Bogardus, Milwaukee, Wis., was determined to spend his time "studying for comprehensives."

Faculty Members

President James A. McCain, according to his secretary, Mrs. Lucille Armsby, will spend the holiday at his desk preparing for the quarterly meeting of the State Board of Education in Havre next Monday and Tuesday.

Dr. and Mrs. Barnard W. Hewitt will drive to Flathead lake, "that is if rehearsals don't take up too much time."

Prof. Ed Dugan, journalism, is "goin' fishin'."

President James A. McCain will address a meeting of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce on July 23.

Summer Thoughts

Foreign ministers overtax their brains in cajolery and trickery; representative of the world's "civilized" nations watch in amazement as an atom bomb demonstrates that peace is not only impractical but undesirable; Republicans consult horoscopes, hoping the stars hold an answer to their questions, for nothing else seems to; the "great unwashed" ponders its chances at the polls; And I—well, I prefer to relax and speculate on man's foibles and fancies.

Summer always bring a mood conducive to mental meanderings in the classics and an occasional ghost story. Speaking of ghost stories, leads me to remark that if you don't believe in them you are probably a dreary, drab, dull diligence lacking person, and ordained as one of the many high priests of Mammon.

Summer is a buoyant time of the year, a season that must have been chosen by the gods for joy and carouse after winter's fretting and chafing is long last o'er. One can emphatically subscribe to Shakespeare when, in one of his sonnets, he exults: "Sweets with sweets war not; joy delights in joy."

Summer is a special period for the happy, exuberant thoughts and aspirations of that ludicrous, puny, impotent animal—Man. Sipping earth-produced nectars, that would rouse the very envy of Leda and Jupiter, provides a deliciously pleasant pastime. Indeed, the immortal Omar Khayyam said well when he wrote:

"And much as Wine has played the infidel,
And robb'd me of my Robe of Honour—Well
I wonder often what the Vinters buy
One half so precious as the stuff they sell."

It might be well to note here that Omar was definitely not a tentmaker, as the translation of his last name implies. Many Persian poets took such names; for instance, Fariduddin assumed the nom de plume "Attar," which means "druggist." Now, with all due respect to the pharmacists, I do not recollect any great poet every having been a dispenser of nostrums for man's many ills.

Reading is likely to consume much of one's time during the lazy, languorous, listless days of summer. When summer has come it is time to lay aside the melancholically moralizing works of Epictetus, Marcus Aurelius, and Philip Wylie so that one may revel in the incomparable quatrains of Khayyam, gay admonitions of Epicurus, and the mildly irreverent stories of Thorne Smith.

In parting may I say, with Khayyam:

"And when like her, oh Saki, you shall pass
Among the guests Star-scatter'd on the Grass
And in your joyous errand reach the spot,
Where I made one—turn down an empty Glass!"

Our knowledge is the amassed thought and experience of innumerable minds—Emerson.

'Nature' Is Uneasy; Vacationers Plan Attack

BY PAUL A. HAWKINS

Tomorrow Montanans will herald the first July 4th in five years without the restrictions of gas rationing. And the more fortunate MSU personnel with buzz-buggies eagerly will "glom onto" their four days of reprieve with the speed of inflation.

Walbridge Joins Summer Faculty

Thomas A. Walbridge Jr. began his duties recently as instructor in the School of Forestry with classes in surveying and mapping for the summer session.

A 1942 graduate of the University of Washington forestry school, he served as lieutenant senior grade on a Navy minesweeper in the Pacific until late in 1945. Since his discharge, he has been working on a master of forestry degree from the University of Washington.

He was a member of Xi Sigma Phi, national honorary forestry organization, and majored in logging engineering while in college. His wife is completing work in physical education at the University of Washington.

New Adviser For Vet Staff

A new veteran contact representative is available in Main Hall 101 to discuss all matters pertaining to medical treatment, rights, disability claims, insurance loans and surplus property. The office will be open Monday and Thursday of each week, Mrs. Emma Lommasson, veteran's adviser, announced last week.

Mrs. Lommasson said that the new contact representative is not to be confused with other offices of the veterans administration on the campus.

A. L. Kadlec, chief of the veterans administration guidance center, handles counseling and guidance for veterans only. Norman S. Murray, veterans administration training officer, handles all questions concerning the G. I. Bill and supervision of scholastic training as required by the Veterans Vocational Rehabilitation Law and the so called G. I. Bill of Rights.

WEEKLY STARTED

Millard Bullerdick '11 recently established a weekly newspaper in St. Ignatius, Mont., according to Mrs. Mary E. Ferguson, dean of women.

Many will be pointing their re-treads toward Glacier and Yellowstone parks while others will be content to wear themselves out tramping the streams and rowing the lakes in quest of the wily trout.

Some Will Stay Home

Then there are those few who will choose to stay home, reclining the shade. Maybe they will string the old hammock and take another try at Huxley or Hemingway and end up with Street and Smith.

Rancher Brown's pastures undoubtedly will take another beating this year with a deluge of paper cups and plates, and empty bottles. Brown will have a few festivity-frightened cattle.

Fireworks Damage Morale

Those midget bombs that frequently have been renting the calm neighborhood atmosphere to shreds already have lowered the average mother's morale to rock bottom.

The true westerners and some thousand dudes will match levis, ten gallon stetsons, and loud shirts at the cow-wrangling and broncbusting rodeos in Drummond, Red Lodge, Roundup, and Kalispell.

Peace-Time Battle Tomorrow

But tomorrow's peace-time battle will get under full swing just as usual. The fishermen will rub elbows and exchange snags. The picnics will fight ants and swat flies. Swimmers and hikers will parry with the sun. And the stay-at-homers, those restful few, will discourage the cook with more dirty dishes and with some added griping because they didn't get on the merry-go-round with the rest of the vacationing tribe.

Ah, but don't we Americans love it! Oh, in case it doesn't rain, remember—"Don't Be A Flipper!"

Now pass me that flyrod, Editor.

VFW WILL MEET TUESDAY

The campus VFW post will meet next Tuesday in the Student Union, James Potter, commander, announced yesterday.

Visiting members and all foreign service veterans are welcome, he said.

Don't forget the mixer in the Silver Room tonight.

State Labor Institute Will Meet July 11-13

Panel to Air GI Gripes At July 16 Convocation

The chance for all veteran students to air their gripes and ask questions will be given July 16, at regular convocation. President McCain announced that he is eager to have this opportunity to present to the veterans the plans and projects concerning the veterans at the university now underway.

"I very much regret," said President McCain, "that the pressure of affairs in my office the past few months has made it impossible to enjoy personal contact with the students on the campus, especially veterans, that I hope to enjoy from now on."

"I realize that there are many university policies of importance and special interests to the veteran students. I wish to have an opportunity to discuss these problems with them directly and to get from them expressions of attitudes and needs. I personally feel that an open forum type meeting as we have planned will give us all that opportunity."

Veteran's Wives to Attend

Married veterans are urged to attend this meeting with their wives, for special emphasis will be given to problems concerning them.

This meeting will be presided over by President McCain, with a special discussion panel consisting of J. B. Speer, university business manager; Professor Merrill, Division of Veterans Administration; Leo Smith, registrar; Emma Lom-masson, veterans adviser; A. L. Kadlec, chief of Veterans Administration center; Norman S. Murray, Veterans Administration; Burly Miller, dean of men; Helen Gleason, department of home economics, and J. B. Gillingham, student personnel.

The panel will answer questions that the veterans or their wives have to offer.

Topics to be Discussed

Some topics which have already been submitted to the committee and which will be discussed are: The housing allocation and rent, the new contract with the federal government concerning the payment of fees by veteran students, university administration policies, new or anticipated veteran regulations affecting the student, plans for the "community" on the golf course.

Other topics which will be discussed are: Projected plans for a recreation center, nursery, and part-time day school for the younger children; counseling and

Morris Named On Committee

Melvin S. Morris, associate professor of forestry at Montana State University, has been appointed to the five-man executive committee of the recently created division of range management of the Society of American Foresters. He was named by Dr. Shirley W. Allen, society president.

Morris said the committee has begun plans for its divisional meeting as part of the society's national session in Salt Lake City in September.

The division of range management is one of several "subject matter" divisions of the society which consider phases of forestry supplementary to society activities, Morris said.

Blaesser Named Student Director

Willard W. Blaesser was appointed as director of student personnel services to succeed J. B. Gillingham, President James A. McCain announced. His appointment is subject to approval of the state board of education at its next meeting.

Blaesser was assistant dean of men and coordinator of student personnel at the University of Wisconsin for five years before joining the University of Chicago staff. He is national treasurer of the American College Personnel Association and author of several publications dealing with counselling and student personnel administration. He expects to arrive this month or in early August.

advisory services now available to the veterans; academic performance requirements of the university as far as the veterans are concerned, and regulations concerning the purchasing of textbooks by veterans.

MSU Alum

Gordon S. Watkins '14, professor at University of California, who will speak at the Labor Institute meeting here

Dr. Hathaway Resigns Post

Associate Professor Baxter Hathaway, with the English department staff since 1940, has resigned to accept a position as assistant professor at Cornell university, the president's office announced. He will teach classes in creative writing at Cornell.

Dr. Hathaway came to Montana in 1940, after earning his Ph.D. from the University of Michigan. While teaching here, he collaborated with Dr. H. G. Merriam, head of the English department, and John Moore, assistant professor, in writing a literary textbook. He also wrote a freshman textbook now in use at the university, and co-authored with Mr. Moore a third text to be published this spring. His novel, "The Stubborn Way," was published in 1937.

He will be succeeded by Joseph S. Hall, a native of Butte, recently discharged from service. Dr. Hall earned his bachelor's degree from Stanford university in 1928, his master's from Columbia in 1937 and his Ph.D. from Columbia in 1941. He also attended the Ecole des Hautes Etudes, Ecole Nationale des Langues Orientales and Vivantes in Paris, in 1934. He will hold the rank of assistant professor.

Don't forget Coffee Hour in Student Union Lounge today.

Union Leaders, MSU Alumnus Spotlited

The third annual Montana Labor Institute, sponsored jointly by the state university and the organized farm and labor movements in the state, will meet on the university campus in the Student Union building July 11 to 13.

The institute this year will feature several persons nationally prominent in the field of labor problems. Invitations have thus far been accepted by Professor Gordon S. Watkins of the University of California, Nelson H. Cruikshank, director of social insurance activities of the American Federation of Labor, Arthur A. Elder, head of the Workers' Educational Service, and Arnold S. Zander, president of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Subjects, ranging from American labor history to the present day labor problems, will be discussed by the institute. All sessions are open to the public, and summer school faculty and university students are especially invited to attend and join in the discussions. Following Thursday afternoon's activities the institute dinner will be given at the Hotel Florence at 6 p.m. Reservations may be made with Mrs. Hughes at the university telephone booth before Wednesday noon, July 10. Price, $1.50.

Where Elite Meet to Eat

Coffee, cookies and entertainment are free to all students and faculty members at "coffee hour" each Wednesday at 4:30 o'clock in the Student Union lounge.

The "coffee hour" encourages faculty members and students to get together in informal discussion and "swap punches, trade sugar lumps, or just become acquainted as they please," according to Cyrile Van Duser, manager of the Student Union.

Anna Vee Mather, Glasgow, is in charge of the volunteer hostesses. Coffee and cookies are furnished by the Student Union Store, but the entertainment is supplied by those attending.

"An excellent place to get acquainted," said Dean J. W. Maucker, summer school director.

"It's all free," added Cyrile Van Duser.

Graduate Assistants Are Appointed

Seven new graduate assistants in the English department have been appointed for the fall quarter, the President's office announced Wednesday.

Four of this group, Mrs. Pearl Johnson Felker, Ivan Ahlgren, Della V. Carr and Helen Formos, were graduated from the university. The others named were Joseph L. Keller, Cheryl Anne Noyes and Harlan Smedley.

Fall Prospects Good; Few Are Out Now

Tennis Squad Has First Workout

"I'm encouraged by the size of the first turnout and some of the newcomers look good, but I'm making no predictions," Jules Karlin, tennis coach, said Monday.

Thus under a hot sun Monday afternoon, Coach Karlin set the stage for the 1947 tennis squad. Karlin said the summer practice session will continue until August 23, so there is still time to sign up.

Volleying under Karlin's watchful eye were newcomers Paul Clapp, Edward Minty and Bill Jardine, Missoula; Howard Jacobson, Helena; Richard Pease, Butte; "Lefty" Simon, New York, and John Arnold, Ridgwood, N. J.

Assisting Karlin in the early warm-ups will be Allan Merriam, Stewart Smith and Nancy Lake, all of Missoula. Smith, holding down the No. 2 position all last year, will be back next spring to bolster the squad through its tough schedule.

LUTHERANS TO CAMP

The Lutheran Student's Association announces that the Sunday camp will leave St. Paul's church at 4 p.m. and will return at 8 p.m.

VETERANS NOTICE

All veterans in attendance spring quarter who have not received their checks are urged to see Norman S. Murray, training officer, Main Hall 101, Monday.

Tennis Meet Slated to Begin Next Week

The outlook for a summer tennis tournament is glum. Only seven men and five women signed up during the tennis meeting in the Student Union building Monday night.

Eddie Chinske, who is in charge of arrangements for the tournament, said he planned to place contestants according to their experience and pointed out that students need not be experienced players to enter. He explained that the players should contact their opponents to arrange playing time.

The tournament is slated to begin next week and a schedule will be placed on the bulletin board at that time. Anyone interested in the tournament is urged to contact Mr. Chinske or Miss Van Duser right away.

The recreation department is doing all possible to insure an adequate program, but Mr. Chinske reported a general lack of enthusiasm in all lines of sports this session.

AUTHOR TO SPEAK

Lloyd Jones, Chicago, author of business administration textbooks, will speak at Craig hall, room 212, Monday at 11 a.m. Commercial teachers and administrators are invited to attend, said Mrs. Brenda Wilson, associate professor of business administration.

Full Participation Denied; PCC Rules on Montana Bid

Montana's bid for full participation in northern division basketball and baseball next year was rejected at the Pacific Coast Conference divisional meeting in Spokane last week, E. Kirk Badgley, graduate manager of athletics, said yesterday.

Badgley, Doug Fessenden, George (Jiggs) Dahlberg and Ed Chinske, Grizzly coaches, represented Montana at the conference.

"Our position was not improved in any way," Mr. Badgley stated. He did say, however, that Montana would try to schedule non-conference games with northern division schools.

The conference track schedule gave the Grizzlies three meets, Washington State at Missoula, April 27; Idaho at Moscow, May 17, and the division championship meet at Seattle May 24.

Montana will have a dual swimming meet with Idaho at Moscow, February 1, and in tennis, the Grizzlies will meet Washington State at Pullman, May 17.

The 1946 football schedule, arranged last December, opens September 27, in Missoula, against Colorado A & M. In conference games, Montana will play Idaho, Washington, Oregon and UCLA.

Substitution—

Adams For Goering; Hermann Benched

PROF. HARRY F. ADAMS

The damages to German youths by Hermann Goering during the last 13 years may be rectified by Lieut. Col. Harry F. Adams, absentee Montana track coach, according to a letter received by Doug Fessenden, director of athletics.

Colonel Adams has been selected German youths activity officer by the headquarters of U. C. constabulary in Germany.

While at this university Colonel Adams was track coach and assistant football coach. He left the university and went to the army in 1942. A year later he was overseas with the 21st Army Corps. Last year he coached a division football team on the European continent, winning all games.

Mrs. Adams and daughters Florence, Judy and Sue, will join Colonel Adams in Germany soon.

Committee Discusses Fort Missoula Plan

much larger enrollment than is now possible," he said.

Mike Mansfield, first congressional district representative to Congress, announced last Saturday that he had asked the War Department to provide the fort for use by the university.

Last Friday, George A. Selke, chancellor of the greater university, President James A. McCain, Professor Garvin D. Shallenberger, J. B. Gillingham and Oakley Coffee, members of the planning committee, visited the fort to examine conversion possibilities.

Fall session will start Sept. 30. Registration of new students, Sept. 25; former students, Sept. 27.
